

Founded in 1607, Justus Liebig University Giessen (JLU) is a research university rich in tradition. Inspired by curiosity about the unknown, we enable around 26,500 students and 5,700 employees to advance science for society. Join us in breaking new ground and writing success stories - your own and those of our university.

Support us from 01.01.2024 in full-time as a

Researcher (m/f/d) for Mass spectrometry and medical Biochemistry

In accordance with § 2 WissZeitVG and § 72 HessHG, the position is to be filled on a fixed-term basis at the Institute of Biochemistry at the Faculty of Medicine, with the opportunity to establish an own independent research group in a current area of medical biochemistry. Expertise in protein biochemistry and mass spectrometry is required. The researcher will conduct own projects and develop new applications in protein mass spectrometry. In addition, she/he will provide technical mass spectrometry support for other researchers. The possibility to establish an independent research group is given, and active participation in teaching, as well as acquiring third-party funding, is expected. The opportunity for habilitation is provided upon fulfilling the necessary requirements. The salary is in accordance with the collective labour agreement of the State of Hessen (E 13 TV-H).

As long as the maximum permissible duration of a fixed-term contract is not exceeded, you will be employed for an initial period of 3 years, an extension for up to another 3 years and furthermore the conversion into a permanent position is possible, depending on the professional progress in the field of scientific services and scientifically successful further qualification.

Your tasks at a glance

- Opportunity for own academic and didactic qualification, activities in research and teaching according to § 72 HessHG
- Taking on teaching duties in German language according to the teaching obligation ordinance of the state of Hessen
- Establishment of an research group
- Publishing scientific data and writing own grant applications
- Participation in collaborative research projects

Your qualifications and competences

- Completed Master's or equivalent university degree in natural sciences or medicine
- Completed PhD
- Documented scientific publications as first and/or last author
- Leadership and organizational skills
- Experience in teaching of biochemistry or equal subject

Our offer to you

- A varied job with flexible working hours
- Free use of local public transport (LandesTicket Hessen)
- More than 100 training seminars, workshops and e-learning opportunities per year for personal development, as well as a wide range of health and sports activities.
- Remuneration according to TV-H, company pension scheme, child allowance and special payments
- Good compatibility of family and career (certificate "audit familiengerechte hochschule")

Please do not hesitate to contact Mr. Prof. Lienhard Schmitz by e-mail (lienhard.schmitz@biochemie.med.uni-giessen.de) for any further information.

JLU aims to employ more women in academic research. We therefore particularly encourage female candidates to apply. Due to the women's support plan, there is an obligation to increase the proportion of women. JLU is regarded as a family-friendly university. Applicants with children are very welcome. Applications from disabled people of equal aptitude will be given preference. In general, a division of the position in two part-time positions with 50% of the regular working hours is possible in accordance with the Hessian Equal Opportunities Act.

You want to break new ground with us?

Apply via our online form by November 23rd, 2023, indicating reference number 638/11. We look forward to receiving your application.